

FRATRICIDE WILL LIKELY RESULT FROM GOODWIN BROTHERS FIGHT

ONE BROTHER INJURES ANOTHER PERHAPS FATALLY

Fratricide seems the probable result of a quarrel and a fight between Ivan Goodwin and John Goodwin Monday night at the home of Curtis Hornor, on Beard's Run, near Tyrone, Tenn. They are sons of Jas. Goodwin, a well known and highly respected citizen and themselves of good standing in their community.

John lies at the point of death and Ivan is the one that inflicted the injury. Hornor is a neighbor and they had been visiting him. A dispute arose which reached the point of anger and Ivan hurled a stone at John, striking him in the ear. The blow felled him and rendered him unconscious. He was taken to the Goodwin home and Dr. Peck, of Bridgeport, was summoned.

All efforts to restore him to consciousness have proved futile and death is in all probability a matter of only a few hours.

The injured man is past his majority. The other brother is older, being about 35. Both are single and resided at the home of their parents.

SECOND DAY'S INSTITUTE ONE OF BEST EVER HELD

LOCAL FIRM LETS CONTRACTS

The Bluefield Telegraph of Aug. 21 contained the following news item of interest here, the architects being local people:

"Architects Holmboe and Lafferty have let contracts for the Bluefield Dry Goods and Notion Company's building to the Brady Construction and Engineering Company, of Parkersburg. This will be a model four-story building with a floor space of 27,000 square feet, heated by steam and with plumbing to meet modern requirements. The building complete will cost $25,000.

"A contract was also let by Messrs. Kelley & Moyers to Stevenson & Co., of Knoxville, Tenn., for a handsome four-story and basement store and office building to be erected on the corner of High and Raleigh streets. This building will supply a demand that has been growing with out thriving city. The building when completed will have cost $40,000 and with its electric passenger elevators and general up-to-date equipment will compare favorably with any building in this entire section.

"We congratulate the architects on their logical designs and more especially on planning buildings that while meeting the owner's requirements in every respect at the same time can be built for the amount set aside for them.

"We learn that on each of the above buildings contracts were signed for considerably less than the architects estimated cost."

MANY OLD TEACHERS ENROLLED AT INSTITUTE

Harrison county can possibly boast of more old teachers than any other county in the State.

This county has now enrolled eight teachers who have followed the profession for over a quarter of a century some of whom have been in the profession very near a half century. The oldest of these is Rev. John Tankin, of this city, who has taught 41 successive years in Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Rev. Tankin was born in London, Eng., 74 years ago and received his education at Huntington college, but spent his career as a teacher in this country. He is also engaged in ministerial work, but says he loves the teachers work and expects to continue in the work. He was principal of graded work in Tucker county last year, but is not engaged for the present. His residence is Clarksburg.

Prof. J. W. Samples, the next oldest in the profession, is near the same age as Rev. Tankin and has taught 40 successive years, all of which or principally all having been taught in this county. The other six are Wesley Davis, 34 years; C. R. Hartman, 26 years; George W. Swiger, 35 years; J. W. Flannigan, 33 years; J. M. Simon, 33 years, all of this county and R. M. Fisher, 25 years, of Morgan county.

Black Appointed

W. S. Black, a prominent Fairmont Elk, has been appointed by Grand Exalted Ruler Henry Melvin of Oakland, California, as to the teachers on the relation of this county to West Virginia. Mr. Will Deffer, the well known barber, will be married in a few days to a Miss Bremer, of Toledo, Ohio.

C. A. Shiffon, of Bridgeport, is in the city on business.

PROF. CALL'S LECTURES ARE ABLEST EVER HEARD

The second day of the institute opened Tuesday morning with a large representation present. The institute was opened by singing "Guide Me O Thou Great Jehovah," followed by prayer offered by Rev. S. K. Arbuthnot, pastor of The Goff M. E. church, at the close of which the institute joined in repeating the Lord's prayer in concert. This was followed by the reading of the 119th Psalm by the pastor. This was followed by lectures Nos. 2 and 3 by Dr. Call. He took up "Maxims of Conflict in Welfare," "Necessity of War-School Conflicts. The Value of Greater Welfare Over Lesser." He applied the maxims to the teacher and pupils in regard to the ironclad rules governing the school. "That school is best disciplined where the question of discipline never comes up." This he says is a perfect disciplined school.

He then took up lecture No. 3, "Ethical Elements in Self-Culture" the prima facie classes of activities are: allusistic, occulty, altruistic and egotistic, which he clearly illustrated and showed that our great men were made better by being educated—Roosevelt a better soldier by being educated; Joe Jefferson a better actor by being educated, etc. In part he said:

"If you are not a high school graduate, hold up before the boys and girls the dignity of the high school and universities. Teach them to believe they are going to have an education and when the opportunity presents itself they will endeavor to go through, come what may, and get a college education."

The speaker then took up the rules for self-culture in the light of the "categorical imperative," which he divided into six classes: first, health, and showed that our greatest men or men of greatest mind were men of afflicted or weak bodies, showing that the cultivation of the body had been neglected—be sober temperate and healthy. He then showed the necessity of the cultivation of the health for the sake of vitality, longevity, placidity, reserve, independence and freedom, common weal. Each of these were taken up separately and thoroughly discussed.

He then took up the second rule: education, discipline and storing of the mind, and said that the discipline of the mind was the only way to perfect freedom. That a disciplined mind was able to win in a crisis, and showed the difference between the disciplined mind and the bluffer. "Be not overcome by the bluffer, the maker of which there seems no end."

He then took up the third, "The ethics of real ambition, hunger for the ideal," and fourth, "The ethics of occupation; necessity of work and vice of idleness." He showed the value in the enthusiasm of youth, the essentials and dangers in the choice of a life work, and that all merits, success, did not come from illustrations which added much to impressing the subject on the minds of his hearers.

The fifth rule was then taken up, "The maintenance of rights and doctrine of the non-resistance to evil," and gave illustrations from Victor Hugo, et al., Jean Valjean and others. The last or sixth rule was taken up, "Enjoyment in the difficult life—Vocation and avocation." In this lecture was a most interesting, one and well received by the teachers. Dr. Call has proved himself a deep and interesting talker, and was heartily applauded by the teachers and students present.

After intermission the institute opened by singing two stanzas of "Help! O Lord" and then Dr. Chase gave a most interesting general talk as to the teachers on the relation of this county to West Virginia. The instructors' teachers. During the course of her talk she gave some interesting and valuable information in the training of little children. She emphasized the good effect of story telling to young children in school and related several stories in appropriate form for the purpose. Her next lecture will be "What are the essentials of a good story; and how shall we present them?"

Mrs. Francis Parks, of Fairmont, president of the State W. C. T. U. Society, arrived in the city this morning from Taylor county to attend the institute here. At the close of Dr. Chase's remarks Mrs. Parks was introduced and made an interesting address along the line of temperance. Mrs. Parks had, at recess time, caused a large streamer to be displayed in front of the house showing some of the many doors which are closed against cigarette smokers.

During the course of Mrs. Parks' address she asked the teachers who knew the law of West Virginia in connection with the teaching of the effect of alcohol and narcotics on the human system, to hold up their hand. Many held up their hand and the speaker declared that of the six institutes she had visited this year Harrison county had more teachers who knew this law than any other she had then visited.

The speaker then gave an interesting talk on how the subject should be taught in our schools, especially in the primary grades and that after the third grade text books should be used. The speaker gave a black-board outline of how the subject should be taught in the five grades: First Grade, The Nervous System. Lesson on machinery, 1. kind of machine; 2. care for machine; 3. how the human machine is governed.

Second grade, machinery continued, 1. How we think and what we think with; 2. Some enemies of good thinking.

Third grade, 1. Structure and function of brain and spinal cord; 2. Effect of tobacco on brain.

Fourth grade, Co-operation of nerves with central controlling organ; 3. Sympathetic nervous system; 3. Narcotics; nicotine.

Fifth grade, 1st, Structure of nerves; 2. Importance of all round development; 3. Harm done by alcohol and cigarettes; alcohol.

Mrs. Parks' address was a very interesting and instructive one.

After Mrs. Parks' address was followed by roll call and showed that three new names were added making a total of 220. The new names are:

C. C. Coffindaffer, Jane Lew. W. M. Matheny, Big Isaac. E. B. Moore, Shinnston.

The roll call showed but six absent, three ladies and three gentlemen, which makes the attendance good.

Among the out-of-town visitors and educators were: State Superintendent Thomas C. Miller and Mrs. Parks, president of the State W. C. T. U. Besides a large number of prominent citizens of the city who appear to take a great interest in institute work.

Today afternoon State Superintendent Thomas C. Miller made a very useful address, of which some friends extending mention here but which will be given tomorrow.

Rev. L. E. Peters will deliver a lecture at 8 o'clock tonight on "The Old School as Compared with the New." There will be a literary entertainment tomorrow night.

Monday night's session was well attended, a number of townspeople besides the teachers being present. The session opened with a piano solo, played by Miss Jule Shuman, a highly accomplished musician. Music by G. W. Brown followed and then Dr. Elkanah Hillyer, principal of Broadway Institute, picked in a very pleasing manner to the teachers about their duty to the school of the soul of the pupil.

From Dubuque, Ia. then delivered a most interesting and highly edifying lecture on the English Speaking Race and the Mission of Glasgow in Scotland in 1873. Mr. Hillyer held his audience most interestingly throughout and many expressions of the excellence of his lecture and the manner of its presentation were made. A social hour was then held under the lecture and many acquaintances were renewed and many acquaintances made.
